Press Release

Protective Coverings, a division of Suburban Manufacturing, Inc., is proud to announce the release of the Radiant Shield Protective Sleeve Line.

Monticello, MN (October 22th, 2015) – Suburban Manufacturing, Inc. (SMI), the industry's leading provider of reusable protective sleeving, trademarked "Suburban Sidewinder Sleeve®", has officially released a complete line of Radiant Shield sleeving.

The sleeve was engineered for use in applications where maintaining proper fluid temperature is important. The radiant-lined sleeve is available in three different variations to provide optimal abrasion protection and heat containment required for the specific application. Adding Radiant Shield to your existing hose assemblies can maximize the thermal retention gain by as much as 25 Delta T. The sleeve is currently being used in the Industrial, Mobile, Spray Foam, and Oil and Gas Industries.
